

Contents

Acknowledgements . . . . .	9
Note on Transliteration and Geographical Names . . . . .	10
Paulina Gulińska-Jurgiel, Yvonne Kleinmann, and Dorothea Warneck Introduction: Interdisciplinary Perspectives on Past and New Polish Regions after 1944 . . . . .	11
1. Material and Mental Breakdown – Efforts of (Re)construction
Magdalena Saryusz-Wolska, Dorothea Warneck Material and Mental Breakdown – Efforts of (Re)construction: Introduction . . . . .	29
Anna Wylegała The Post-War Landscape: An Anatomy of the Breakdown of the Social World in Poland during World War II . . . . .	41
Małgorzata Krupecka The (Un)Ending War: New Challenges for the Congregation of the Grey Ursulines in Poland in 1945 . . . . .	67
Iryna Horban Reconstructing the Past: Museums in Lviv after 1944 . . . . .	97
Imke Hansen Materiality and the Construction of Memory: The Case of Auschwitz-Birkenau . . . . .	119
Anna Zielińska Languages of the the Territories Incorporated into Poland in 1945: Arguments against the Thesis of Linguistic Integration . . . . .	143

Daniel Weiss

The Newborn Polish Nowomowa after 1944 and
Its Relation to the Soviet Original . . . . . 157

2. War is Dead, Long Live the War! –
Emotions and Uncontrollable Actions

Joanna Hytrek-Hryciuk

War is Dead, Long Live the War! –
Emotions and Uncontrollable Actions: Introduction . . . . . 189

Joanna Sulikowska-Fajfer

The Voice(s) of Polish Poets during the Immediate Postwar Years:
Capturing the ›Spirit of the Times‹ . . . . . 201

Monika Talarczyk

Don't Let Auschwitz Happen Again!
The Reception of Wanda Jakubowska's Film
The Last Stage (Ostatni etap) in the Late 1940s . . . . . 235

Katarzyna Woniak

›I am Waiting for the End of this War, from Day to Day, from Week to Week.« Hopes of Polish Forced Labourers
in Germany, 1939-1945 . . . . . 253

Marcin Zaremba

Fearing the War after the War:
Poland from 1945 through the 1960s . . . . . 275

3. Past Injustice – Imaginations and Concepts of Law and Justice

Rachel Kerr

Past Injustice – Imaginations and Concepts of Law and Justice:
Introduction . . . . . 297

Jacek Chrobaczyński

How Communist Authority was Legitimized in Poland 1944:
The Polish Committee of National Liberation versus the Warsaw Uprising . . . . . 303

Ewa Malinowska
Text in Context: The Discourse on the Legal and State System in Poland after the End of World War II . . . . . 327

Paulina Gulińska-Jurgiel
How to Punish National-Socialist Crimes in Poland?
Genocide According to the Definition of Jerzy Sawicki . . . . . 349

List of Contributors . . . . . 371